SESSION OF SENTENCE COURT IS HELD AT UNIONTOWN TODAY.

Harry Trimble Let Off With Payment of Costs and Promise to Go to Work.

OTHER SENTENCES GIVEN OUT.

Wm. Coburn, who held up and shot S. A. Davidson at Dunbar, goes to the Western Penitentiary for Three Years—Premium on Honest Work for Dunbar Foreigners.

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 20.—Sentence court was held today when a number of prisoners convicted at the recent session of court were disposed of. Most of the sentences were comparatively light. The first case was that of Harry Trimble, convicted in connection with the alleged murder of Harry T. Holt of Ohio, who claims to have lost a wallet of coin in a false prize fight at Baltimore some two years ago when Trimble was a participant.

Attorneys W. E. Crow and W. C. McKean spoke at length in behalf of Trimble. They stated that according to Holt's own testimony he was equally guilty that he could not recover by a civil action and had to resort to the criminal court. Attorney McKean stated that Holt was mixed up in a legal matter some months ago, when his veracity was strongly questioned. Judge Umble, in passing sentence, stated that he had changed his mind relative to Trimble's guilt since the trial, and directed that the prisoner pay the costs of prosecution, sentence being suspended so long as Trimble goes to work and supports his family. Trimble was directed to get work in either Fayette or Westmoreland counties. The prisoner wanted to go away, but was told that these two counties are large enough for him.

John Conner, alias John Knight, was mixed up with Officer Henry Douglas of Uniontown on the Saturday night some weeks ago when "Bud" Knight was shot and killed, was given a year in the workhouse for assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery and an additional year for larceny. Alex. Johnson, who was charged with resisting arrest, got nine months in the workhouse. In sentencing these men the court stated that but for them Bud Knight would not have been killed.

William Coburn, who held up and shot S. A. Davidson near Dunbar a few weeks ago, was given three years to the penitentiary and an additional six months to jail for assault and battery. He will do the full sentence first, pending a decision of Attorney Patterson on a new trial which will be asked. The jury trying Coburn recommended him to the mercy of the court, which Judge Ruppert pronounced as totally inexcusable.

A premium on honest labor was placed by Judge Ruppert in disposing of John Knife, who was convicted of assaulting Tony Rich at Dunbar. It was shown that Knife, a foreigner, has been about Dunbar for the past five or six years, and for four years worked steadily for one man. Judge Ruppert said that a man who stuck close to his work as that was entitled to all the consideration a court can give, and anyone else coming up under similar circumstances should receive the same treatment. Knife was fined the costs and $35.

The Dunbar junk stealers were disposed of today. William Turner and Warren Calloway, who have been in jail for seven months, were let off with the costs while Charley Haley and Walter Ford were assessed the costs and four months in jail.

Mike Sannato, carrying concealed weapons, was sentenced nine months to jail and fined $50. Pat Hayes, charged with furnishing liquor, will spend 60 days in jail and pay the costs.

D. W. Wheeler, convicted with M. D. Clifford for malicious mischief, was released on payment of the costs and directed to keep away from bad company in the future.

Frank Dettico, who pled guilty to desertion and non-support, was let off on payment of the costs on representation of his counsel that the matter is to be fixed up out of court.

Solomon Clifford, charged with furnishing liquor, was let off on payment of the costs. Jesse Gardner, who shot William Price at Leisenburg, charged with the several degrees of assault and battery, was sent to the penitentiary for 18 months.

Harry Stevenson was given 30 days to jail for assaulting his wife with a chair after an argument as to the kind of clothes he was to wear.

William Wilson of Markleysburg, assessed three-fourths of the costs in

ANOTHER SUIT

Is Entered at Uniontown Against the Smith Estate by A. A. Straub of Town.

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 20.—Another suit has been added to the fast growing list of claims against the Bertha Anna R. Smith estate of Connellville. This morning Attorney R. W. Playford presented papers in the claim of A. A. Straub against the estate, the bill being $2,138.00 with interest from October 15, 1905.

Mrs. Smith is said to have agreed to pay her share of these, they to do the work and submit the bill. She never paid the claim. Some of the items charged are as follows: Repairs to screens $57.00 Repairs to alterations $12.00 Repairs to bar $118.00 Electrical work $4.00 Plumbing $5.00 Changes to Mrs. Smith's rooms $10.00 Boarding Mrs. Smith at $50 per month $300.00 Sewer $120.00 The other items are small and of a trivial nature.

WILL BE AN INNOVATION HERE.

Plans for Free Bridge Celebration Talked Over at Meeting of the Merchants' Association Last Night. Other Organizations Appear on Committees.

The merchants of Connellville will have a bargain day. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Connellville & New Haven Merchants' Association last night. Monday, September 30, is the date set. That is the day before the celebration which is to be held in observance of the freedom of the Young bridge from tolls.

Connellville has never had a general bargain day. The scheme, in fact, has never been tried before in Fayette county. It has met with success in other states and parts of Pennsylvania. It is claimed, and the results are expected from the first trial in Connellville. New Haven of course will be included. All the stores represented in the Merchants' Association will have special bargains as an offering all day and in the evening of September 30. The stores not represented in the Association, it is expected, will also fall into line, though there are very few merchants or shopkeepers not members. A paper will be taken in each of the local newspapers. These two papers will be divided into spaces and then allotments will be made to the different merchants in which to advertise their special bargains. There will be no ban, of course on each individual merchant, using such additional newspaper space as he can secure to advertise his special bargain, since the space allotted to each in the price of the local papers will of necessity have to be very limited.

From now until the day of Special Bargains all of the merchants will be active as boomers. It is the intention to get every shopper in the Young region interested and then to make it worth their while when they come down town to look the bargains over. They propose to make the day more in the nature of a general advertisement than a profit making scheme and for that reason bargains such as can not be secured at any other time will be in store for the shoppers on Monday, September 30.

Special efforts will be made to get the shoppers from Scottdale, Duwson, Vanderhill, Dunbar and as far south as Uniontown interested.

Reports were also made at the meeting last night on the progress being made for the free bridge celebration on October 1. It was stated that a number of civic and secret organizations have taken up the matter of participating in the celebration and committees are being appointed to assist in their end of the festivities. The Union societies will be in line 100 or more strong with their own band. The Executive Committee is also well along with their work and will be ready to make a report in a few days.

THE GAME ENDED IN DISPUTE WITH SCOTSDALE IN THE LEAD.

Umpire Trainor Then Forfeited Fat Men's Contest to Connellsville When Mill Town Giants Refused to Play.

SAY THEY HAD AN AGREEMENT

That the Game Should End in Time for Them to Catch the Six O'Clock Car Home—There Were Some Star Stunts Pulled Off.

Although corpulent men are supposed to possess even tempers, such was not the case when the heavyweights of Scottdale and Connellsville clashed on the diamond yesterday afternoon at Marietta-Stillwagon park. The contest was forfeited at the end of the eighth inning to Connellsville by Umpire Trainor, the score at that time being 15 to 13 in the visitors' favor. The Scottdale team left the field, claiming to have an agreement that the contest was to stop in time for the visitors to catch the six o'clock car for the Mill Town. Umpire Trainor says he received no intimation of this. At all events, the teams spent enough time wrangling to have played two games.

Barnett Smith was on the playing line for the visitors and was an enigma up to the seventh inning, when he was found for three hits and four runs. In the eighth after two doubles and a brace of singles had been made, he retired in favor of Wilson, who was an easy mark. Had the full game been played it is doubtful that the locals would have batted out a victory in the last inning.

Harry Marietta started to pitch for Connellsville, but in the sixth to let Doc Eshard do a few curves over the pan but Doc was an easy mark and gave it up after two innings had been played and seven runs pushed across the pan.

The batting of McCudden, baserunning of Miller and catching of Frank Daly were stellar features of the game.

Notes of the Game.
Out of five times at bat McCudden had two singles, a double and a triple. Umpire Trainor was good and bad in spots. Two of his base decisions against Connellsville were pretty raw. In spite of this he was thoroughly impartial.

The game threatened to blow up in the seventh. Irwin, while running for Lyons, was stopped off first base. Niewonger blocked him from the bag with his knee and John was tagged, being plainly out. Connellsville sent up an awful yell at this, but his umpire had everything his way. The argument was absurd.

Six hits, three of them two baggers, assisted by three errors, netted seven runs for Connellsville in the eighth. Then Scottdale quit.

Frank McCudden was easily the star of the afternoon. The big center hit like a professional and fielded tried in big league style.

H. F. Barkley was an enthusiastic supporter for Connellsville. Occasionally he got the better of discretion on his part. In the seventh inning the game was suspended, several minutes; they couldn't get him off the diamond.

Wilson wasn't a fat by any means, but his playing didn't help Scottdale.

Niewonger admitted weakness at the bat. He declared that any hit he might make would be accidental. There was no accident yesterday afternoon.

"Shanty" Buttermore is so tall that he has to fall down in order to reach the ball.

Smith Buttermore, right hand man to Billy Eshard, played second base for the visitors.

Doc Eshard sent a drive to left in the third inning that looked good for a home run. Unfortunately, he drove it into Stouffer's hands.

Myers lammed a pretty hit to left for three sacks.
Tom Baxter made a decided hit in middle field. Tom insisted upon playing close to second until he had a chance after a long fly.

Charlie Patterson and John Irwin guarded right field.
Maciotta is credited with a stolen base. Hayes Miller ran for him that time.

The base running of Hayes Miller was a feature of the contest. His daring on the sacks brought down rounds of applause. He made the first three runs for Connellsville.
Frank Daly played behind the bat in big league style. He didn't run around Kalamazoo Heights, the Apple Orchard and Holy Hill for nothing.

How about it, Frank?
Frank McCudden says the scorers lost an inning. They couldn't have done that, although they wanted to had enough. It was all work and no play for them.

Doc Hoffman covered first in nice style but his judgment at times was bad.
Scorers tried to get from first to home on a wild throw. He was nipped at the plate.

The Leans got theirs today.
Not a man left on bases for Connellsville. Every man who got to first and was not put out on a route around the circle scored. Scottdale had 11 players deserted on the sacks.

The Connellsville batters were anxious for another round with Wilson. They liked his goods.
They, these fat men take things seriously.

Eleven runs in the last two innings. That's going some.
Some of the players were wise enough to regard the whole thing as a joke. Others got sore and yapped about crookedness. These fellows kicked as though a million dollar purse was at stake over the outcome.

The batting of McCudden, baserunning of Miller and catching of Frank Daly were stellar features of the game.

You can drive him out quickly if you use the mail order houses' own weapon—advertising. Mail order concerns are spending thousands of dollars every week in order to get trade from the home merchants. Do you think for a minute they would keep it up if they didn't get the business? Don't take it for granted that every one within a radius of 25 miles knows what you have to sell, and what your prices are. Nine times out of ten your prices are lower, but the customer is influenced by the up-to-date advertising of the mail order house. Every article you advertise should be described and priced. You must tell your story in an interesting way, and when you want to reach the buyers of this community use the tickets of this paper.

BARGAIN DAY AND ITS ADVERTISING.

The Connellville merchants are going to try the Bargain Day plan suggested some time ago and will more recently in these columns.

The experiment will be watched with interest, and the interest will not be confined to the merchants who advertise bargain for that particular day. If their advertising is successful in bringing an unusual number of shoppers to town, there is scarce another interest in Connellville and New Haven that is not likely to share in some degree the benefits of that advertising. They would get a better share for themselves, however, if they also advertised properly.

We say "properly" because there are different methods of advertising, and many of them are utterly worthless, but because they bring no business is no reason why advertising should be condemned.

The very fact that the most successful merchants advertise almost wholly in the newspapers is ample evidence to convince the man of ordinary intelligence that this is the most effective agency to employ; but he must do his part by making his advertisements effective in manner and arrangement, and it is the part of the publisher to make them effective in appearance and to furnish an effective circulation.

Bargain Day, like all other bargain sales, depends for its success on how thoroughly it is advertised.

THE PLAT-PASSENGER RATE.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Canonsburg Notes, is the fortunate possessor of one of the wise Benjamin Franklin's pronouncements.

If it doesn't know all about any matter or thing, it isn't afraid to ask. The Notes rises to the following inquiry:

The Connellville Courier has joined the demand for the passage of the 2-cent rate law, when it was an issue before the people and Legislature, but which the Philadelphia declared it unconstitutional demand its repeal, and that before the higher courts have an opportunity to pass upon the measure. Where is the consistency in this?

The Courier and the people who trade with it please tell us how it comes that the railroads can afford to carry passengers for two cents a mile in Ohio, and even in Michigan, but cannot afford to do so in a State so densely peopled as Pennsylvania?

The Courier never demanded the passage of the two-cent passenger fare bill. We doubted the constitutionality, as well as the wisdom of the measure, but in common with many other conservative editors we withheld judgment and did not oppose the popular clamor. About the only thing we said on the subject was that the railway companies had brought it upon themselves in a manner with which they had treated the public for many years back and the evidence then brought forth of the grating and buccannery propensities of many railway officials great and small. We plead not guilty to the charge of inconsistency and challenge our contemporary to the proofs.

In reply to the various inquiries of The Notes, we may say that the cost of carrying railway passengers varies greatly, not only in different States, but also in the same State. Not only among the various railways of one State, but likewise on the different divisions of the same railway.

The question is a simple one, not at all difficult to understand. The cost of running a passenger train is a definite factor; the revenues arising from the passenger fares on that train vary according to its patronage. A fixed rate might be equitable for one train and not for another; for one railroad system and not for another. We feel sure that neither The Notes nor any other sensible newspaper will insist that the railways carry passengers at a loss. That is manifest injustice to the stockholders of the railroads. It follows that a flat rate, such as is demanded by the Dunsmuir bill, is bound in some cases at least to cause a loss and to work a measure of confiscation which is contrary to the Constitutions of the State and Nation.

It may be argued that many of the railroads are overcapitalized and that the public should not be compelled to pay dividends on the water. This is quite true, but it does not alter the fact that an arbitrary passenger rate of two cents per mile, regardless of conditions as to costs of construction, maintenance and operation, is not only an arbitrary proposition, but also a necessary and manifest injustice.

The Courier gives cordial endorsement to the railway regulation idea evolved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has power to compel the railroads to deal fairly with their patrons both as to rates and accommodations. We favor a State Commission on these lines. This is a reasonable regulation plan. The flat rate law was just what another Common Pleas judge only yesterday declared it to be, namely, "an act of caprice, passed without reason in the name of Reform."

TYPHOID FEVER AND SPRING WATER.

Typhoid fever has become a scourge in many Pennsylvania communities. In Allegheny, Allegheny county, it has been traced to a spring, and the Scottsdale health authorities are so suspicious of a spring in that town that they have had it closed.

Sparkling spring water, look pure and good to thirsty humanity, yet experience has shown that it may be a deadly draught. The turbid water of the river is safer, it is exposed to the sunlight and is kept cool by the benevolent bacteria which war against the poisonous species. They must stand filtration in the work of purification. Springs whose area of drainage is unprotected are more dangerous than the open stream, but they should be with municipal and manufacturing drainage.

Building spring water especially in built-up communities should be approached with suspicion, examined by experts in bacteriology and shunned as a pestilence, when condemned by such authorities.

GOOD ROADS AND THE TURNPIKES.

The operation of the State road law is giving Pennsylvania good roads in spots, and it is proposed to borrow $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 to make a complete job of the good roads movement. The Pittsburgh Dispatch notes that there is no specification as to the money for the restoration of the old turnpikes, and says:

In the estimated appropriation made by the last session we do not understand that any money was given for the use of that State money to that end, yet there is hardly any field where State money can be expended for road construction with so large results in proportion to the expenditure.

The old turnpikes which fell into the hands of quacks or unscrupulous authorities there is an appreciable remnant left. In some cases, however, the need of adjustment to comply with modern standards, and in others the foundation may have to be reconstructed.

Even the majority of these roads the grading and foundations are still there, available for improvement at comparatively small cost per mile by resurfacing, repaving bridges and bringing them up to date.

There is hardly any more obvious or appropriate expenditure of State money for road work than in rebuilding the miscellaneous roads of two generations ago. Intelligent work in this direction, combined with pushing the new construction of connecting links, would give the State a 30 per cent improvement in its highway system.

It is a reasonable assertion that these highways can be restored to surface level and made to meet the new requirements of the State in a proper manner and directed it may be a fact that it is a good thing that the old roads are being rebuilt.

While it is no doubt true that the turnpikes will cost less to rebuild than new roads that will have to be graded and built from foundation to surface, it is also a fact that if road improvement should be general the rebuilding of the old roads will be a portion of the work, and there is no necessity of specially mentioning them.

But if it is proposed to confine the first efforts to the reconstruction of the old roads alone, obliging taxpayers to foot the bill for the reconstruction of the first or second class roads, the State is not only not reaching the purpose of the act to reach such completion and take chances on there being none of the appropriation left, they will be very apt to file prompt and decided objections. The demand for better roads is infinitely more imperative in many sections than it is along the old turnpikes.

Pennsylvania has no State debt, and can without much effort carry and liquidate a fifty-million bond issue for good roads, but if it is done there must be some assurance that it will be spent impartially for the good of every section and not the undue advancement of any.

THE MYSTERIOUS MISTER ROGERS.

Henry H. Rogers, the head and front of the Standard Oil Trust, is reported to be $40,000,000 deep in the West Virginia Deepwater & Tidewater railroad project, and to be hard-up in consequence. His physicians swore a few days ago that he was a paying sick man and a dying man. Wall Street says he is in deep water financially.

Other people say he is not sick, but

SYSTEM IS SHOWN UP.

Testimony Adduced in Standard Oil Suit Illustrates How Trust Operates.

TEXAS PUT BAN ON STANDARD

But Its Oil Was Sold in That State Just the Same—One-Fourth of Standard Oil Stock Owned by John D. Rockefeller.

New York, Sept. 20.—That the Standard Oil company is operating under the name of the Corsicana Refining company in the state of Texas, which has forbidden the oil company to operate within the state, was indicated when Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil company, under examination in the government's suit against the company, testified that H. C. Folger and C. M. Payne, whom Frank Kellogg, the attorney for the government, states control the Corsicana company, are prominent in the conduct of the affairs of Standard Oil. Mr. Kellogg sought to draw from the witness, the information that the Corsicana company was really a Standard Oil company and was operating in Texas because the anti-trust laws of that state would not permit the combine to operate it. Mr. Tilford replied that as far as he knew the Standard Oil company had no interests in Texas. He said that Mr. Folger and Mr. Payne were both officers of the Standard Oil company, but he was not aware that they owned the Corsicana company.

Another interesting development was the fact that the Standard Oil company for the first time of John D. Rockefeller's personal holdings in the Standard Oil company. Just to what extent the reputed head was individually interested in the great concern, it is not clear. It was also testified that in the years from 1899 to 1906 inclusive the Standard Oil company had earned total profits of $480,215,324.

Trustees Had Great Power. Under the terms of this agreement all stock was to be delivered to nine trustees who issued to the depositing stockholders trust certificates equal in par value to the stock. The nine trustees under the original agreement were John D. Rockefeller, J. A. H. Payne, William Rockefeller, J. A. H. Payne, W. C. Warden, Charles Pratt, Benjamin Brewster and John A. H. Payne. The trustees had absolute power in the control of the companies. They could purchase with the trust funds the stocks and bonds of other oil companies on such terms as they deemed advisable and could dispose of them whenever they considered it necessary. The trustees, who were elected to hold office for three years, were not limited by owners of trust certificates. The agreement further provided that the trust should continue during the lives of the survivors of the trustees named in the agreement and for 21 years thereafter.

Admits Court Decree Was Evaded. Mr. Tilford was questioned at length on the trust period between 1882 and 1892 and the period of trust liquidation from 1892 to 1899. Mr. Tilford, as secretary of the company, could give the government's counsel little information during these periods of the Standard Oil trust, though he was a liquidator in 1892. Mr. Kellogg finally asked Mr. Tilford if during the period of liquidation, there had been any real change in the management of the company and the witness replied there was not.

DARING JAIL DELIVERY

Six Men Escape From Lockup—Four Soon Recaptured. Birmingham, N. Y., Sept. 20.—After leading six other men in escaping from the Broome county jail Charles Carter, said to be one of the most notorious criminals in the country, was shot in the leg and recaptured. Four of the six men were taken, leaving two still at large. Carter is supposed to have saved the bars of one of the cells, letting out with him six prisoners. They then tried to break out of a window with a piece of pipe which they sawed from the jail plumbing, and all of them jumped to the ground through the hole thus made.

Came Out to Go Back. Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Upon his release from the penitentiary J. Lawrence Miller was arrested on a warrant from Detroit and will be taken to that city. Miller had just served 30 days for passing a worthless check. Miller formerly was a bank clerk at Charles on W. Va.

TRIED TO STEAL CORPSE

Desperate Attempt to Secure Body of Woman for Scientific Purposes.

Columbus, O., Sept. 20.—A daring attempt to steal the corpse of Mrs. L. L. Northstone, who died of a disease and the county coroner could not dispose, was prevented by a house dog, which aroused the dead watch seated in an adjoining room.

A white man, of professional appearance was just climbing into a window from which the glass had been removed when the watchers rushed into the room in which the corpse lay. On the lawn stood a negro in livery, while a third man was attending the team attached to an undertaker's cart. The men hastily mounted the cart and drove away at breakneck speed followed by revolver shots from policemen, who had been attracted to the scene. Information has been lodged against a prominent practitioner. Those on guard claim they recognized in him the man whom they saw climb into the window.

The attempt is one of the boldest ever known in this city, where, prior to the passage of the state law giving the bodies of paupers to science, body snatching was common. Those concerned did not even take the trouble to remove the name plate of the undertaker from the cart and it has furnished the police their best clue.

WARRANT IS SERVED

James M. Shumaker of Johnstown Furnishes $60,000 Bail in Capital Graft Cases

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 20.—Detective Edwards of Dauphin county came to Johnstown and served upon James M. Shumaker, former superintendent of public buildings and grounds at Harrisburg, a warrant of arrest in connection with the state capital prosecution.

Attorney Percy Allen Rose, counsel for Mr. Shumaker, who was attending court at Ebensburg, when advised of the arrival of the detective, hurried at once to Johnstown in order to look after the interests of his client. A local alderman was summoned to the Shumaker residence to take the bond, the defendant being unable by reason of prolonged illness to leave his home. The bond is in the sum of $60,000 and covers 30 counts in informations made before Harrisburg aldermen. Mr. Shumaker's bondsman, it is understood, are Nathan Miller, a local real estate dealer, and Charles C. Weston, also of this city.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Sept. 20.—George F. Payne, builder of the Pennsylvania state capitol, became a resident of this vicinity several months ago when he purchased considerable property here, included in his purchases is the old lighthouse site on Lake St. Clair, at the mouth of the Clinton river, where Mr. Payne is living in a houseboat.

Milwaukee, Sept. 20.—Bishop Joseph F. Berry of Buffalo, who is in Milwaukee presiding over the conference of the German Methodist and who has been quoted as criticizing President Roosevelt for partaking of intoxicating liquors in the home of Vice President Fairbanks at Indianapolis, denies that he ever made such a statement in Detroit. A statement issued by the bishop says:

"Bishop Berry repudiates the interview widely published this week in which he is said to have held President Roosevelt responsible for alleged liquor drinking in the vice president's house while visiting in Indianapolis. The bishop regrets exceedingly that President Roosevelt should be necessary to deny a silly charge for which the bishop has been quoted but one that he has not even dreamed of making."

I. C. SMUTZ SUED FOR $50,000 BY MISS MERCEDES GLADDEN.

Daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Gladden Brings Action for Breach of Promise.

WEDDING SUDDENLY CALLED OFF

By Mr. Smutz After Many of the Guests Had Assembled at Youngstown Last Week and All Preparations Had Been Made—Groom-to-Be Telegraphed He Was Not Coming and That a Letter of Explanation Followed.

A branch of promise suit for $50,000 was filed at Uniontown yesterday by Attorney W. C. McKean on behalf of Miss Mercedes Gladden of Youngstown, O., against I. C. Smutz of New Haven. The suit is the result of the abrupt calling off of their wedding by Mr. Smutz on September 10. The fiancee of society have been working overtime since that date delving around for a reason for Mr. Smutz's action. On that date Mr. Smutz sent a note to the local newspapers stating that he would not marry Miss Gladden and that he was not coming to the wedding. He was not coming to the wedding. He was not coming to the wedding. He was not coming to the wedding.

Relatives of both families had left for Youngstown on September 10 when Mr. Smutz changed his mind regarding his marriage to Miss Gladden. The invitations had been sent out and all preparations had been made by Mr. Smutz and his family. The wedding was to have taken place at the home of Mr. Smutz in New Haven. The wedding was to have taken place at the home of Mr. Smutz in New Haven.

Miss Gladden in the suit filed today at Uniontown. She claims that Mr. Smutz was just as attentive to her as before and there was no indication that his attentions had weakened. She claims that Mr. Smutz was just as attentive to her as before and there was no indication that his attentions had weakened.

Miss Gladden had been put in order for the wedding which was to have been an event of more than ordinary importance. Rev. Gladden, her father, is pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church at Youngstown, one of the largest congregations in the city. He was formerly in charge of the Connelville Methodist Protestant Church and during his pastorate resided in New Haven. It was during this residence that Mr. Smutz met Miss Gladden.

Miss Gladden in her suit says nearly all of the out of town guests had arrived in Youngstown for the wedding when a telegram came from Mr. Smutz at 15 hours before they were to be married saying that he would not be in Youngstown for the wedding and that a letter followed. At this time Mr. Smutz had announced through the local newspapers that he would not marry Miss Gladden. What the contents of the letter are could not be learned late this afternoon, but it is said that Mr. Smutz informed Miss Gladden that after thinking the matter over he had decided that he could not take the place of his late wife and he thought it best to drop the marriage arrangements.

The announcement came from Mr. Smutz a few days ago that he intended to go to St. Clements, Mich., for his health and that the announcement of his wedding to Miss Gladden was untrue. It was known at that time by friends of both families that preparations had been made to attend the wedding last Wednesday at Youngstown, O.

There is much gossip surrounding the whole affair, and many statements are made by those who watch social developments closely. Miss Gladden and Mr. Smutz were acquainted here shortly after Rev. W. H. Gladden took the pastorate of the Methodist Protestant Church. Miss Gladden took a position in the Bell Telephone office shortly after her parents moved to Connelville and remained there until after they removed from the city. She was chief of operators.

General gossip says that the difficulty arose over a settlement that was desired upon the bride by herself and her family. It is claimed that this matter was talked over frequently and even was a topic of conversation among many before the wedding announcement was made. Whether Mr. Smutz agreed to this or not is not known. It is stated that the family of Mr. Smutz had a place of $25,000 in the name of his bride free from all encumbrances or alliances, but might develop as a result of his first marriage.

Although it was a settled fact that the wedding was to take place last Wednesday no announcement of any kind had been made from the Gladden family and the suit stands as a mute evidence of a broken heart and the claim to a telephone girl's romance started in Connelville with Cupid sighting the dart at a widower. The suit, it is claimed, comes from the court press some very sensational and interesting reading.

EXONERATED

By Coroner for Child's Death, a Mammoth Man Is Prosecuted by Foreign Parents.

GREENSBURG, Sept. 20.—Deputy Coroner H. A. McMurray held an inquest last evening on the death of John Zulata, a two-year-old child of foreign parents who reside at Mammoth, at the Cosbey's undertaking establishment. The parents and other foreigners blamed William Dillon, a teamster, with causing the child's death, but the jury rendered a verdict of accidental killing.

It will be remembered that the Zulata child was run over by a four-horse team on a street in Mammoth and that Dr. McMurray last Sunday went to make an investigation and hold an inquest. The excited foreigners wanted to lynch Dillon, and made such a demonstration that the State Police were summoned to quell the incipient trouble. The inquest had to be postponed.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Coroner's jury rendered a verdict exonerating Dillon the driver of the outfit that ran over the child the parents made an information against him before Judge Wells, charging involuntary manslaughter. Dillon waived a hearing and entered bail for his appearance at court.
